THIS little book contains beautifully engraved and printed miniature facsimiles of these two series of Cruikshank etchings, which were very popular when first issued in 1847 and 1848. More terrible pictures of the results of indulgence in strong drink could hardly be imagined. At the same time the artistic quality of the etchings is very high indeed.

THE Publishers take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Ferdinand Schenk for his kindness in allowing them to make a selection from his splendid series of "Handzeichnungen Alter Meister." A complete list of the plates in the four volumes from which their choice has been made will be found at the end of this little book; the much larger size of these collotypes will render them of great value to the student, whom the small reproductions given here may lead to interest in the originals. The Publishers have supplied no details regarding the careers and characteristics of the Artists represented. It is their object in this series, as in their "Art Books," to awaken, not to satisfy, the curiosity of the purchaser in artistic matters, and induce him to investigate for himself.
